What’s the Point?

tonyodarg.wordpress.com/2019/12/27/whats-the-point

Tony Odarg December 27, 2019

I’ve struggled with exactly why I continue to do what I do here with my blog and the videos I put out. Maybe it’s ego or a desire to be heard. Maybe it’s boredom. Maybe it’s just a sign of being a loser. Whatever the reason, I have not been very successful. I admit that freely. I’m not looking for sympathy. I have been banned from Instagram (who cares) YouTube and now Twitter just today. While twitter was the place where I did the most random posting and enjoyed the news feed, being banned is not a terrible loss. I can always make a new account for personal use. What is sad is the state of things: no one can say anything anymore, for fear of being marginalized.

I myself want to start a family some day and have a nice career, I know what I want to do. But even as I type this, I know very few people will ever see it. That’s what annoys me. I want to shout from the rooftops and have a platform to just say what I believe uninhibited. Yet, there is something freeing about NOT following the news assiduously. In fact, it’s quite tempting to just delete it all and be done with it. And who knows, maybe I will one day. I’ve only been on for about two years, so maybe I’m being hard on myself. Sigh.

-Tony